TELEGRAMS

(By Havas Agency)

Paris, 30th—Meetings for to-morrow of the workmen are announced all over Europe. Strikes have already taken place in Spain, Germany and Belgium and more are expected.

Borlin, 30th—The strike in Bochum cantinues. The Government has sent there more troops, fearing disorders.

Rome, 30th.—The Chamber of Deputies commenced to-day the discussion on the African question.

THIRTY YEARS.

The STANDARD completes to-day its 30th year, and we think a retrospect of the interval since May 1861 may be interesting. The country has made great progress in that time, as will be seen by the subjoined record.

This year may be considered memorable from the fact that it saw the birth of the first English daily paper in South America, the STANDARD. The only other event of importance in the River Plate was the battle of Pavon (Sept. 17th), in which Gen. Mitre routed the army of Pres. Derqui, and annexed the Argentine Confederation to the Republic of Buenos Ayres. The number of European immigrants during the year was 6,300.

Peace being established the country made great progress. In February Governor Mitre opened the new Bolsa in Calle San Martin, and turned the first sod of the railway to San Fernando. In May branches of the Provincial Bank were established at Mercedes, Lobos and San Nicolas, and a company was formed to work the San Juan silver mines. In June an Artesian well was bored at Barracas, and a project was laid before the Chambers for a Southern railway, as far as Chascomus. At the same time Messrs. Easton Amos of London offered to lay down a water supply for 10,000 houses, at an annual charge of £15,000.

The project of an English bank was mooted in the STANDARD of July 24th. Congress was occupied with the question of selecting a capital for the republic, and Dr. Sarsfield proposed San Fernando, but the matter was postponed. Gen. Mitre, having been unanimously elected President, assumed office in October.

The arrival of Mr. Wheelwright from England and the opening of the River Plate Bank served to begin the year with happy auspices. In February the Boca railway was commenced, and in April the first sod of the Central Argentine was turned at Rosario, both enterprises being in the hands of Mr. Wheelwright. The invasion of Banda Oriental, by General Flores, occurred also in April.

Don Manual Lynch brought forward his scheme of making a port for Buenos Ayres at the Boca. The brig Raymond from Dublin arrived with 130 Irish emigrants. Consul Hutchinson of Rosario published an account of his exploration in the Gran Chaco with Don Esteban Rams, along the Salado.

Mr. Robert Crawford, with a staff of engineers arrived from England, to construct the G. Southern Railway for the contractors, Peto and Betts. The first sod was turned at Plaza Constitucion in March, when Pres. Mitre made a speech on the benefits of British capital. The Northern railway was opened to San Fernando.

In May an American named Wells made several balloon ascents. In September amateur theatricals, the plays being "the Critic" and "Bombastes Furioso," proved a brilliant success, for benefit of the British Hospital.

The year ended in clouds of war and coming trouble. A Brazilian army, in November, invaded Banda Oriental, whereupon Lopez of Paraguay seized the steamer Marquez de Olinda and declared war against Brazil.

In December two catastrophes occurred. The Retiro barrack blew up, killing 50 men, and H.M.S. Bombay was burnt off Montevideo, with a loss of 93 men.

Leandro Gomez, the valiant defender of Paysandu, was shot in cold blood, along with his principal officers, by Gen. Flores, in the first week of January. The Brazilian forces captured Montevideo in the following month and made Flores dictator. A triple alliance was signed between Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay. The battle of Riachuelo was fought in June, between the fleets of Paraguay and Brazil, not far from Corrientes, all ships on either side being sunk or disabled.

Among the less striking events of the year were the foundation of an English colony at Frayle Muerto, in March, and a Welsh one in Patagonia in April. Two new railways were opened to traffic, the Boca line in September and the G. Southern to Chascomus in December. A bazaar for the British hospital, in June, realized 3,500 stg. Hostilities between Spain and Chile began in October.

At the commencement of January Gen. Mitre had assembled at Paso la Patria a mixed force of 58,000 men for the invasion of Paraguay. The year proved most disastrous to the Allies.

In the battle of the Boqueron, which lasted two days, in July, they lost 8,000, and in the assault on Curupaity, in September, 5,000 men. The latter reverse closed the campaign for a long interval.

Some letters of Monsieur Cornac, in February, caused such a run on the Provincial Bank that 2,000 Italians camped in Calle San Martin, and all traffic was stopped. A tremendous dust-storm occurred on 19th March; many houses rocked like ships on sea.

In June a banking crisis at Montevideo was followed by a decree of "forced currency." The California colony was founded in the Gran Chaco.

In September the Central Argentine railway was opened to Frayle Muerto, and the Western to Chivilcoy. The telegraph cable was laid from Ensenada to Colonia, in October, and a few weeks later Mr. Oldham commenced working in the River Plate Telegraph Co. Specie payments were resumed in December at Montevideo. A great land auction was held at Rosario, prices averaging $1,500 per sq. league, or a shilling an acre.

There was a remarkable question of jurisdiction this year, a whale having been washed ashore at Buenos Ayres: the blubber was claimed by the National Government, the Provincial Government and the Municipality.

This was the third year of the war in Paraguay. In February the Allies were again repulsed at Curupaity, whereupon the American Minister, Washburn, endeavoured to mediate. Cholera broke out among the Allied army in May, causing great havoc. During the remainder of the year there was much hard fighting around Humayta without any advantage to the Allies. In August the British envoy, Gould, made fruitless efforts of mediation, but he succeeded in October, in rescuing many British subjects.

Among other events of the year were the following:— In January specie payments were resumed in Buenos Ayres at the rate of 2 pence the paper dollar. The Italian Bank was established. The San Juan mines collapsed. In April the Stewart case was decided, ordaining the National Government to pay £40,000 to Messrs. Stewart. An epidemic of cholera set in, which carried off 2,000 victims in Buenos Ayres, besides many in Rosario. Baron de Campy introduced a scheme for water-supply and drainage. The Argentine Bank was opened in May. Two efforts were made to burn down the Government House, in June and August. Gold-digging at Cunapiru, Banda Oriental, attracted notice. Cholera again broke out at Buenos Ayres in December, 100 deaths daily.

The 4th year of the Paraguayan war began with the siege of Humayta, the garrison of which place included some battalions of women. After several months of fighting it was evacuated by the Paraguayans in August, the garrison falling back on Angostura. The latter place was defended by Col. Thompson with great valour, but forced to capitulate on Dec. 30th, the Brazilians capturing 1,500 prisoners and 100 guns.

In February Gen. Flores was murdered at Montevideo. In May the STANDARD correspondent, Mr. John Hayes, known as Sinbad, died at the seat of war. In August Pres. Mitre vetoed the law for removing the capital to Rosario, and in October handed over the Government to his successor, Dr. Sarmiento.

The war in Paraguay continued. In April Count D'Eu assumed command, but it was not till August that Lopez was dislodged from Azcurra, where the Brazilians took 15 guns and 500 prisoners. H.M.S. Beacon rescued 57 more English captives. The expenditure of money and loss of life to the Allies was estimated in August as follows:—

	£	Men
Brazil	56,200,000	168,000
Argentina ..	9,500,000	18,700
Uruguay	1,200,000	3,200
Total	66,900,000	189,900

Various tramway concessions in Buenos Ayres were given this year. The first railway in Uruguay was opened to traffic in January, from Montevideo to Las Piedras. In May Gen. McMahon, U. States Minister, arrived from Paraguay. In September the British Flying Squadron arrived at Montevideo. In October Messrs. Clark obtained a concession for telegraph wires to Chile. A violent storm occurred in port; 25 vessels being driven ashore. In December Mr. Bravo and his companions were murdered by banditti in the Uspallata pass. Wheat-growing made much progress this year, the crop being estimated at 250,000 tons. Mr. Melrose and others had 4,500 acres under grain at Frayle Muerto.

This was a year of much trouble. Lopez was killed by a Brazilian trooper at Aquidaban, in March. Gen. Urquiza was murdered in April at his palace of San Jose, by Lopez Jordan, which was the beginning of the war in Entre Rios.

In January Pres. Sarmiento visited the Frayle Muerto colony. Coghlan's men laying water-pipes and the tramway companies rails, half the streets of Buenos Ayres were cut up, and much sickness occurred. In March a great storm fell upon the city; many horses were drowned in the streets. In April Mendez constructed his Corkscrew steamer. The Central Argentine railway was opened to Cordoba in May. Snow fell at Rosario in June, and the Henly colonists arrived there to grow flax. Capt. Musters, R.N., after two years' wandering in Patagonia, safely reached Buenos Ayres, in August. The eminent astronomer Dr. Gould arrived in September from U. States, to establish the Cordoba Observatory. Admiral Petz and Baron Herbert came in November to make an Austro-Argentine treaty. The Blancos besieged Montevideo and captured the Cerro, but were in the following month, December, cut to pieces in the battle of Sauce.

Rumors of gold discoveries in Cordoba, Rioja and Gallegos territory, Patagonia, caused excitement.

The most terrible year in the annals of Buenos Ayres. Yellow Fever broke out in January, the deaths in March and April averaging 300 a day, although one-half of the population had fled. There were 26,000 victims, including Canon Fahy, the father of the Irish community and many old English residents. The plague lasted 110 days, 400 grave-diggers working day and night, of whom not one died.

Bateman's surveys for a port were presented in January, estimate £2,000,000 sterling. The battle of Naembé in February ended the Entre Rios war, Lopez Jordan escaping to Brazil. The Montevidean waterworks were completed in July. Capt. Page sen. explored the Rio Bermejo, and Mr. Hopkins proposed a railway across the Chaco to Bolivia. Congress voted in September a sum of two millions sterling for drainage and water-supply of Buenos Ayres. A law to move the capital to Villa Maria was vetoed by the President. The Cordoba Exhibition was opened in October, and the Observatory inaugurated.

In September the Central Argentine railway was opened to Frayle Muerto, and the Western to Chivilcoy. The Uruguay, another for Paraguay. The burning of the steamer America near Montevideo closed this painful year; 150 lives lost.

The year began with the opening of the Mortgage Bank of Buenos Ayres, and the massacre of 40 Europeans at Tandil by Tata Dios. Gold discoveries were reported at San Luis in May, and Crawford's expedition returned from the Andes, after making surveys for a railway over the Planchon pass. Rival port-schemes for Buenos Ayres were presented by Revy and Burmeister, in June. The first telegraph message from Chile was received by the STANDARD in July, and in the same month the Mercantile Bank was started, with a capital of £1,500,000.

In October a number of "Lincolnshire farmers" from Whitechapel arrived, en route for Paraguay, none of whom had ever seen a plough.

Two railways were begun, Telfener's line to Tucuman, 337 miles, and the Salto and Santa Rosa in Banda Oriental. The Central Uruguay was opened to Santa Lucia in November.

The National Bank was started in January, capital £4,000,000, all subscribed in 10 days. The Ensenada railway was opened. Troubles arose with Chile in March, about the right to Patagonia. Mr. Billinghurst turned the first sod of the railway to Rosario in April, but Messrs. Waring afterwards threw up the business. A severe crisis began, which lasted 5 years. An attempt was made in August to assassinate President Sarmiento. A second war had been for some time going on in Entre Rios, but ended, in December, with the battle of Don Gonzalo, when the rebels were defeated.

The survivors of the "Lincolnshire colonists" were brought down in October to Buenos Ayres, 480 in number, 160 having died in Paraguay in one year.

In November the Andine railway was opened from Villa Maria to Rio Cuarto. Some samples of iron found at Albigasta, Catamarca, were favorably reported on by Prof. Doering.

Clark's contract for a railway to Chile was signed in January, to cost £6,000,000. Mr. Pertuiset explored Tierra del Fuego. The Municipality owing money to Gas Co. for two years, the latter stopped the supply in February; but the police broke into the works and continued to make gas. The Punta Lara pier was opened in March. An expedition under Captain Cilley, after 4 months in the Chaco, safely reached Bolivia. In May Messrs. Lanus and Co. inaugurated the Bateman drainage works; contract £1,500,000. Pres. Sarmiento ordered a city park to be laid out at Palermo, covering 600 acres, to cost £80,000. In June the Tuson port-scheme was adopted at Montevideo, and the Cent. Uruguay railway opened to Durazno, 130 miles.

In July the new Argentine gunboats arrived from England. Chile consented to arbitration in the question of Patagonia. Rival port-schemes for Buenos Ayres by Madero, Stant, Rigoni, Lindmark and others. Bravo's scheme of boulevards in the city embraced 18 miles in length, to cost £60,000,000, the works to employ 100,000 men. In August telegraphic communication was established with Europe, Pres. Sarmiento sending messages to Queen Victoria and the Pope. Mr. Seeber inaugurated the Catalinas pier.

A revolution broke out in September, but lasted only 76 days, ending with Col. Roca's victory at Santa Rosa. Dr. Avellaneda succeeded President Sarmiento in October.

In January Mr. Cibils took over Lanus's contract for the Bateman drainage works. The Jesuit college was burnt down by a mob in February. The East Argentine railway was opened to Caseros, 96 miles, in April. Two more port schemes were presented in May, one by Mr. Alfred Moore for docks at Catalinas pier; the other by Messrs. Harris and Lizars to cost £2,000,000.

In June Tejedor's mission to Brazil was unfortunate and caused much anxiety. In July Congress threw out Bateman's, Revy's, Moore's, Stant's, Rigoni's, Madero's, Harris's, Lindmark's and other port schemes, and called for new ones. Gold discoveries were reported from Rioja, by Mr. Treloar. In October a Homestead Law was passed, giving 80 acres, to each family, but it did not come to anything. The Andine railway was opened to Rio Quinto. In November a second batch of Welsh colonists arrived at Chubut. Palermo park was opened to the public. In December an Italian expedition explored the Chaco north of the Pilcomayo.

In January, the Welsh colony at Chubut being in distress, Commissioner Dillon sent them supplies. An attempt was made in February to revive the San Juan mines, a number of Cornish miners arriving for the purpose. In April the crisis was still so bad that it was proposed to wind up the National Bank and the Mortgage Bank of Buenos Ayres, and to sell the Bateman works and the Western Railway. The Campana line was opened to traffic. In May specie payments were suspended. The Rosario branch of the London and R. Plate Bank was sacked by the Governor of Santa Fe. In June a project was laid before Congress to sell the Tucuman Railway and the Andine line. A Homestead law was passed in August, giving 200 acres of land to each family of settlers; it proved a dead letter. The Great Southern Railway was opened to Azul. In September Dr. Plaza succeeded Mr. Riestra as Finance Minister; issue of 10 million metallic notes, say £2,000,000 stg. The capital of the National Bank was reduced to 8 million dollars. At the close of the year the railway to Tucuman was opened, and the works begun at Huergo's port of the Boca.

This year began with Moreno's explorations in Patagonia and an order from Marshal McMahon for 4,000 Argentine horses for the French army. In March a revolution in Paraguay resulted in the murder of Pres. Gill. In June the Penitentiary was opened at Palermo, for 770 criminals. The railway to Bragado commenced running. Bateman's works were suspended, and his staff returned to England. In August Mr. Haase got a concession for coal-fields in Patagonia. The steamer Fulminante exploded in October at the Tigre.

At a banquet in the Coliseum music-hall, Dr. Plaza declared that the Government would introduce a Protection tariff, to prevent imports from Europe. In November the criminals at Sandy Point mutinied and killed 45 persons.

In January a Russian colony was established in Olavarria. Mansilla's expedition set out for the Maracayu gold fields in Paraguay. Gen. Roca became Minister of War. In April a quantity of bar silver was received from Mr. Parchappe's mines in Rioja. Diplomatic relations were broken off with Chile, in July, in consequence of the Patagonian question. A French expedition under M. Andrieu explored Tierra del Fuego in August.

In September G. Higgins offered to complete the Bateman works for £900,000. In November Pres. Hayes decided the claim to Pilcomayo territory in favor of Paraguay. The Jackson dock was concluded at Montevideo.

The year opened with preparations for war against the Indians of the south frontier. In March Latorre became dictator of Uruguay. War broke out between Chile and Peru. In April Gen. Roca set out for the Rio Negro, and in three months he annexed 150,000 sq. miles of Indian territory. Gould's map of the southern heavens, shewing 85,000 stars, was published in August. Copper discoveries were reported from Misiones in October. Pres. Avellaneda visited the wheat-farms of Santa Fe in November.

This was a year of trouble and bloodshed. In March Latorre was expelled from Montevideo, and in June Pres. Avellaneda and his Cabinet fled from Buenos Ayres, the city being in open revolt against his Government. A battle ensued at Alsina Bridge, in which the Buenos Ayreans were defeated, and the city promptly capitulated to the National Government. Gen. Roca became President of the Republic in October, and Buenos Ayres was made federal capital in December.

1881.

The Prince of Wales' sons arrived in January. A loan for £2,400,000 was negotiated in Paris The English Bank of the River Plate was opened in June. Some 200 ostriches were imported from Africa. The Government sold Curumalan to E. Casey in August. A public mint was established. Difficulties with Chile were settled in October, and a treaty of limits was signed.

1882.

The year opened with a great fire at the Boca. In March Santos seized power at Montevideo. The Exhibition was opened at Buenos Ayres. Some Italians were put to torture at Montevideo in April, and some Spaniards also ill-treated. The Misiones boundary question with Brazil caused trouble in June. M. Crevaux and party were killed by Indians in the Chaco. At a masonic banquet in Montevideo 20 persons were accidentally burnt alive. In August snow fell at Montevideo. The Western railway was opened to Pergamino in September. Rumour of gold-fields at Curumalan. The building of La Plata city near Ensenada swamps was commenced.

The G. Southern railway rapidly pushed on its works towards Bahia Blanca. In March the Bariloche pass over the Andes was discovered, open all the year round. The Scotch community presented a testimonial to Rev. James Smith. Capt. Hunter Davison explored the falls of the Yguazu, in August. Pres. Roca converted the Argentine currency in October at the rate of twopence per paper dollar; new currency issued in gold and convertible notes. The war between Chile and Peru ended, having lasted 4 years. Bateman's works were taken up by Signor Devoto, after a suspension of 6 years, in November.

In January the first invoice of frozen mutton from the River Plate was sold in London. In February Mr. Drysdale presented £4,000 to the Government, to found a Blind Asylum. An Argentine expedition was sent in March to Tierra del Fuego. Governor Damico, in April, inaugurated the new city of La Plata, capital of the province of Buenos Ayres. In May the old Recoba in Plaza Victoria was pulled down. The G. Southern railway was opened to Bahia Blanca. An area of 52,000 sq. miles of Rio Negro territory was sold by Government to 780 buyers; average price £6 sterling per sq. mile. In June a National Bank project was started at Montevideo. Argentine loan for £6,000,000 in London. In November it was proposed to Haussmanize Buenos Ayres, the first step to be a boulevard. In December the contract was signed for the Madero port works, the cost not to exceed £4,000,000 sterling.

On the 9th January the State banks being insolvent Pres. Roca suspended specie payments. This was the beginning of the present crisis. The Paraguayan Railway was purchased by a London Co. In March Dr. Plaza resigned the Finance portfolio, and was succeeded by Dr. Pacheco. In June the people of Lincoln lynched some murderers. A special committee arrived from U. States to promote trade relations. The new Bolsa in Plaza Mayo was opened in September. In December there were great land speculations in Paraguay.

In January the Cape Virgin gold-fields caused such notice that Government received 50,000 applications for mining licenses. The railway to Rosario was opened in February. Messrs Baring offered a fresh loan of £4,000,000 to the Argentine Government. In March the Fontana party explored the Patagonian Andes. The Catalinas warehouse was burnt.

Arredondo's revolution in Banda Oriental ended in April with his defeat at Quebracho. In June Lord Mayor Alvear imposed Octroi on food in Buenos Ayres. In August the Nat. Government ceded 80 square miles of land near Cape Horn to Mr. Brydges. Clark's concession for railways in Corrientes was signed in September. Juarez Celman succeeded Gen. Roca as President in October. Some cases of Cholera occurred in town, spreading afterwards to the provinces. In December the deaths reached 30 daily at Rosario, 100 at Mendoza and still a higher figure at Tucuman.

In January the suspenison of specie payments was prolonged by law till January 1889. The tyrant Santos was overthrown at Montevideo. The National Mortgage bank commenced operations. Pellegrini's loan was launched in London at 85¼. In February frauds were discovered in the Provincial Bank, bogus bills. Gold discoveries were reported from Jujuy. In April the National Bank of Uruguay was founded.

Messrs. Hawkshaw and staff arrived in July to begin the Madero port-works. A railway loan of £4,000,000 sterling for the Murrieta railways was passed. The railway concessions granted by Congress this session summed up 4,000 miles in length. In August Lord Mayor Crespo proposed his boulevards, to cost 38 millions sterling. In September a new Congress Hall was ordered, to cover 16 acres and cost £1,600,000. The census of the city shewed 468,000 population. In October the troops slaughtered a number of Chaco Indians. Minister Pacheco's Free Bank scheme was made law in November. A municipal loan was made for £2,000,000. Alvear's boulevard was adopted instead of Crespo's. In December the sugar crop was estimated at 27,000 tons, that of maize 260,000.

At the opening of the year tenders were called for the purchase of the Bateman Works. Messrs Hume bought the Tucuman railway for £3,200,000. In March the scheme of Centros Agricolas was started; the advances on this head reached 53 millions, or nominally £10,600,000 sterling, by the end of 1889.

Several Free Banks on the Pacheco model were started in the provinces. The Nat. Mortgage bank made an issue of gold Cedulas. In June Messrs. Hale took over the Bateman Works, subsequently sold to Messrs. Baring. In July the issue of the Provincial Bank was raised to 50 millions of shinplasters. Wheeler's port project was laid before Congress. In this session of Congress 100 railway projects were submitted. Mr. Seeber became Lord Mayor in August: another municipal loan proposed. In December the crisis was worse, causing much discontent.

Rufino Varela succeeded Pacheco as Finance Minister in January. The failure of Reuss, a Montevidean speculator, occurred in February. The steamer Dresden arrived with 1,800 destitute immigrants, mostly from Ireland. In March there was an accident on the Rosario railway; 13 persons killed. The Bolsa was closed by order of Government for some days. Minister Varela, in April, began selling the gold reserves of the National Bank. Madame Patti sang at the Politeama Theatre. In June Lopez Jordan was assassinated, Varela was succeeded by Pacheco, as Finance Minister, in August.

Pacheco proposed in October to burn 100 millions of the surplus issue of shinplasters. A revolution occurred at Rio Janeyro in November, and a republic was established in Brazil. A census of Montevideo shewed 215,000 inhabitants. In December a report on municipal finances shewed bankruptcy. The number of immigrants this year reached 287,000.

In January Pacheco recommended another loan in London, for 8 millions sterling. The Treasury Report shewed:

Balance in paper ..	80,000,000
" " gold ..	22,000,000
Value of stocks ..	58,000,000
Total assets ..	160,000,000

The total shin-plaster issue was 163,000,000. The first of the Madero docks was opened. In February Dr. Basabilbaso was sent to Paris to sell the Gran Chaco. In March the new port at La Plata was opened. Dr. Herrera became president of Uruguay, and a crisis ensued at Montevideo in the following month. Rumors of clandestine issues of shinplasters resulted in a statement by Pacheco that these unlawful notes amounted to 35 millions. The Western Railway was sold to an English Co., for £8,200,000. Uriburu succeeded Pacheco in April, as finance-minister.

Pres. Juarez Celman, opening Congress in May, declared that the Government held in paper $92,000,000, and in gold $47,500,000. In June the Government resolved to collect Customs-dues in gold and to try a new loan in London for £10,000,000. Minister Uriburu on account of the doings in the National Bank resigned, and was succeeded by Garcia. This increased public discontent, and troops were summoned by Juarez Celman from all quarters. The revolution broke out on 26th July, and although it was suppressed in 4 days the result was the overthrow of Juarez Celman, followed by great public rejoicing. Dr. Pellegrini became President, with Dr. Lopez as Finance Minister.

In November Capt. Page died in his exploration of the Pilcomayo. The house of Baring Brothers collapsed in London, and the London bondholders proposed to allow the Argentine Republic to suspend payment for 3 years of all obligations except the Pellegrini loan. In December Congress voted this arraugement and several new taxes. Floods in Cordoba were attended with the loss of 200 livos. The number of immigrants this year was only 127,000.

THE EXPORT OF CEREALS.

The high price of wheat, the increasing dearness of bread in this city, and the prospects of misery in the masses during the winter months have given rise to a propaganda in favour of cheap bread. The Municipality and the Government are giving their attention to this serious question, and several meetings of grain merchants and leading millers have already taken place in the Government House. Up to the present nothing definite has been arrived at, and in the present stage of this most vital question the following note of the Camara of the Plaza Once will be read with interest:—

April 29th, 1891.

To the Minister of Finance,

The Sala de Comercio del Once, of which I am Chairman, has made a serious study of the cereal difficulty in this market, and begs to convey to Y.E. the opinions of its members, comprising all the corn merchants and millers in the market, on this vital question. We feel certain that the views of the Camara will enable Y. E. to form an opinion as to the exact merits of the question.

As Y. E. is well aware, we can fall back on no agricultural statistics to arrive at conclusions of mathematical accuracy, but in the light of the experience and practical knowledge of people who deal in grain, we may feel assured that an approximative calculation can be arrived at.

I believe that the following figures will give an idea of the probable stock of wheat and flour in the country:—

Stock of Wheat.	Bags.
In this city's mills and deposits	300,000
West of Buenos Aires	1,000,000
South do.	500,000
Chubut and Patagones.....	100,000
Santa Fe	2,200,000
Entre Rios	600,000
Total.....	4,700,000

Stock of Flour.	Bags.
Capital and province of Buenos Aires	200,000
Santa Fe	300,000
Total	500,000

The probable consumption in this city is 2,000 bags per day; province of Buenos Aires the same; and in the Interior 4,000.

Thus, calculating the daily consumption of the Republic at 8 000 bags daily, we see that we shall need up to the end of the year 2,160,000 bags of flour: deducting from this total the stock of 500,000 bags, we have 1,600,000 bags to look forward to. To cover this balance we need 3,320,000 bags of wheat, which reduced to flour, give 1,660,000 bags; there remains therefore, out of our stock of wheat 1,380,000 bags of wheat available for export. The excess for export we believe to be much larger, for our calculations are high for consumption and low in the estimate of available stock.

With regard to the alarm caused by the rise in the price of food, we beg to inform Y. E. that 100 kilos of flour can be purchased for 20 $ m/n; that with these 100 kilos of flour the baker at a cost of 5 dollars can produce 115 kilos of bread which he can sell at a price of 22 cents per kilo; that notwithstanding the poor people to-day pay for bad bread 30 and more cents.

The Committee of the Sala Once regret that for the moment they cannot enter into a more detailed study of the question and are confident that Y.E. will not resort to any measures that might place fresh difficulties in the way of the wheat and flour industry.

HELP FOR THE POOR.

April 29.

Mr. Editor,

Ever since Major Barritt arrived here you have been constantly calling the attention of your readers to what he is doing for 35 British subjects, and in your hurry to get the British public to help him on, in order that he may be ready to attend to a still greater number, he has in view, you make some mistakes which I wish you to correct. The Society St. Vincent de Paul is not composed mostly of Spanish ladies, but of ladies of every nationality; besides there is another society under the same name composed exclusively of gentlemen, likewise of every nationality.

The action of those societies has not been more or less paralysed on account of the crisis, for if you were to inquire you would find out that the number of families that receive help from them is far superior to what it was three months ago.

I do not for a moment intend to say anything against Major Barritt or his army as far as their work is concerned in this country, but, just now, I am quite sure that the Societies of St. Vincent de Paul will do much more good for the poor in general than fifty such armies that prefer helping British subjects, whose necessities are not properly understood.

Yours truly,
John MacGrath.

MADERO PORT SUFFERERS.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Dear Sir,

Referring to the article in to-day's STANDARD, we shall be most happy to subscribe £20 towards cost of passage of families returning to England.

Yours truly,
John and Joseph Drysdale.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The freight train from La Paz to San Luis was derailed on April 26th at kil. 437, 80 metres of permanent way being damaged, and 50 sleepers broken; the traffic, however, was not interrupted. The Western Railway's Station at Mendoza was on April 22nd the scene of a sad accident whereby a shunter lost a leg; the victim was taken to the Hospital, and is progressing favourably. Both these occurences were duly reported by Mr. Roberts, the Manager of the Railway, to the N. R. Board.

On the 27th April a special goods train from Mosotoro to General Guemes (F.C.C.N.) derailed at kil. 65.600 owing to the bad state of the permanent way and to the narrowness of the gauge.

The Chief of the Public Works' Department has forwarded to the Executive the resignation of Sr. E. Negri as assistant engineer to the Committee appointed to draw up the plans for the modifications in the Guachifas line.

The local Board of the Argentine North-Eastern have applied to the Executive for payment of $59,475 gold, the amount of the guarantee on the Monte Caseros-Curuza Cuatia section of the line to Corrientes, for the last half-year. During this period the working shows a deficit of $58,321.95 m/n.

Messrs. Lucas Gonzalez and Co. have forwarded to the Accountant-General's office their 7th half-yearly account for money paid in London up to the 1st January last, in respect of interest, stamps and service on the loan of £3,918,200 for the Central Northern Extensions. The account amounts to £91·714 8s., or say $462,240.58 gold, payment of which must be ordered by Presidential decree.

The President of the N.R. Board has communicated with the Minister of the Interior to the effect that the extension of the Central Northern to the frontiers of Bolivia should be opened to the public on the 25th inst.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

This is the 30th anniversary of the STANDARD'S appearance in the Editoral Bus, and we doff our best crisis hat to our subscribers, readers and colleagues, wishing them all long life and prosperity.

The Working Men's mass meeting to-day comes off in Plaza Victoria at 9 a. m. The police have taken special precautions to prevent disturbance and they arrested yesterday all the men who were engaged in posting up the Socialist proclamation calling the meeting.

Messrs. John and Joseph Drysdale have most generously given £20 towards making up the deficit of £100 required for sending home the dismissed Madero Port workmen.

Her Majesty's Minister the Honble F. Pakenham has demanded explanations from the Argentine Government of the alleged ill-treatment of some of the wrecked officers of the British ship Seatoller, by the Argentine authorities on States Island. Mr. Pakenham's note is a vigorous one, as in addition to the charge of ill-treatment, several British sailors are alleged to be kept against their will at Bahia San Jorge, and Lord Salisbury insists on their being liberated, if they have not violated Argentine law.

The annual Excursion of the choirs and Sunday schools of St. John's church will take place on Thursday next, the Feast of the Ascension (public holiday) the presence of the relations of the children of the schools and choirs will be welcomed; but it is hoped that such adults joining will contribute their due quota towards the expenses. It will be a convenience if those who propose to attend will signify their names beforehand to Mr. W. Goode, Rivadavia 649, who has the arrangements in hand.

Excepting the National Bank meeting, referred to elsewhere, there was nothing delightfully thrilling in local affairs yesterday. But from Montevideo there was an electrifying rumour about the disappearance of no less than ten millions of dollars! After all, this is a mere fleabite compared with the "disappearances" we are accustomed to on this side of the river.

There was not a word of news from Chile yesterday. The dynamite bomb story is now believed to be a "canard."

Peuser's invaluable Pocket Guide for May was sent round yesterday. No visitor to this city should be without one.

Mr. Patrick Knoughton is requested to call on his sister, who is in the "Hospital Mixto", very ill.

Mr. H. G. Wellby, F.S.C., A. Geo. O., Professor of Music in Lomas Academy and the Scotch School, has been appointed organist of the American Church.

We remind the members of the Rowing Club that the Extraordinary Meeting comes off to-night at 8 o'clock, in the Scotch Schoolroom, Calle Piedras, to elect a new Committee.

We thank the Committee for their kind invitation to the San Martin Church concert to-morrow night. The programme includes most attractive music and a series of dissolving views in Paris.

The works of the Argentine composer, Miguel Moreno, who was cut off in his prime, have been collated and published in an elegant album by Messrs Moreno and Ensinck of 280 Florida, which is on sale there and at the music stores. In looking over these compositions, we are struck not only with their grace and harmony, but also with the elegance they display.

An exhibition of Holson's electrical device for stopping runaway horses was given recently on one of the Boulevards of Chicago in presence of a large number of horse-owners. The animals being in full run, the inventor, who was in the carriage, pressed a button. The team began a series of spasmodic buck-jumps, coming to a standstill within a distance of 30ft. Beneath the seat of the carriage is a small battery. Wires lead from this through the reins to the bit. A button within the vehicle and another on the driver's seat can be so operated as to complete the circuit to the horses. The inventor claims that the use of the electric current does not harm the horses in the least, and attributes their sudden stopping to surprise.

In that "flor de un dia", the enchanted city of La Plata, the financiers and politicians are said to be so done up by their recent exertions in the conciliation and save-the-Bank line that their brains are exhausted and for some days there has been nothing new either in financial projects or politics. So best: the financial projects that generally emanate from the provincial capital will never set the River Plate on fire; but justice compels us to add that they are quite as good—or rather as bad—as those raining from other quarters.

Entre Rios farmers will henceforth be as proud as Punch. Telegrams from the European markets say that Entre R

The Montevideo Times says :—

«Nothing further transpired yesterday respecting the local loan of £100,000, negotiations respecting which remain "in statu quo." The Ferro Carril, however, states that the President has definitely accepted the propositions brought by Mr. E. Casey from England, respecting the guarantees, the terms being as follows :—The State shall pay at once to the guaranteed railways 5 per cent on their working capital, instead of the 7 per cent originally conceded. The remaining 2 per cent is to be delivered to "an establishment of the country" (name not mentioned) to be employed, with proper precautions, in the colonization of the lands contiguous to the railway lines. The arrangement has been made through the intervention of the English Bank of the River Plate, which will advance, on account of the Government, the sums required to satisfy the guarantee of 5 per cent. The same paper adds that the following telegram has been sent to London :—"Government accepts proposition to reduce guarantee to 5 per cent, dividing 2 per cent to colonization. Advise the presidents of Railway Companies that they may call meetings of shareholders and give telegraphic instructions to their agents here to arrange with me. On signing the contract, Government will pay all arrears.—E. Casey." This important piece of news has not yet been confirmed, and we therefore give it with due reserve.

The report of the Argentine Meat Preserving Company states that the net profit earned amounted to £10,239 11s. 7d., out of which the sum of £10,005 has been applied to the payment of a dividend on the preference shares at the rate of 7 % per annum, leaving a balance of £234 11s. 7d, to be carried forward to next account. The directors consider this result of the first season's working to be satisfactory, seeing that it was impossible to get the new buildings erected in time for last year's operations, and that, consequently, the business could only be carried on as formerly. The profit thus earned confirms the statement made by the vendor of the value of such business, and the directors have pleasure in recording their satisfaction with the management in the Argentine Republic. Owing to strikes and other causes, considerable delay occurred in obtaining delivery of the machinery required for the extension of the factory, and it was not without difficulty that it has been got into place for the present season. This, however, having been effected, the directors have every confidence that the result will be a satisfactory increase in the profits for the present year.

A late exchange says :—

«We have received a copy of Vol. IX., being the tenth issue, of Burdett's Official Intelligence of British, American, and Foreign Securities.' The preface states that the difficulties of producing the book increase every year, of which the growth in its bulk is ample evidence. The present issue has 188 more pages than the last. We are told that the grand total of British, foreign, and colonial loans issued in London in 1890 amounted to £99,052,640, as compared with £166,907,926 in the previous year. During 1890 the additions to the Official List of the Stock Exchange amounted to £356,321,490, as compared with £251,976,424 in 1889. The nominal capital of the 3542 new companies registered at Somerset-house with limited liability in 1890 was £218,000,000, as compared with 2578 registered in 1889, with a nominal capital of £229,406,624.»

Just published.

The new and enlarged edition of Mulhall's Dictionary of Statistics is now being issued by Messrs. Routledge and Sons, London, in monthly numbers, price half-a-crown. The first number appeared in January, the work to be completed in 10 numbers. Each number has a full-page diagram frontispiece, the book being uniform in type and appearance with Chambers Encyclopedia. It is the largest and most comprehensive work of statistics yet published in any language, embracing all subjects and all countries.

Messrs. Jacobsen expect the first and second numbers shortly.

At the Estancia Grande, the property of GEORGE BELL, there are always on Sale Clydesdale and Cleveland Stallions, Durham Bulls, and Lincoln Rams, also Potros suitable for carcasses and heavy draught.

As all animals offered for sale at this Estancia are by stallions, bulls, etc., imported direct from England by the owner, it would therefore be advantageous for intending purchasers to inspect the same before purchasing elsewhere.

Nearest Station (under a league from the Estancia) EMPALME PEREIRA F.C. a La Plata from whence animals can be despatched to any part of the Republic.

Animals of the same breeds are obtainable at the Estancia La Favorita. Apply to the Mayodomo, Almacen La Suiza, Carrera Tandil a Necochea, or to Hotel Dhees, Tandil; also at Estancia Santa Catalina. Apply Mayordomo, San Jose de la Esquina, F.C.O.S. Rosario.
